Prototype description

The aim of the prototype is to provide users (municipants, tourists, business visitors) centralized data about the city (events, attractions, traffic info, weather forecast, city map, photo gallery, video advertisements for promotion of tourism, live TV, etc.)

Main features of "Interactive City Information Point" are large transfective LCD touch screen in robust housing, resistant to harsh weather conditions and software with multilingual support, developed to meet municipal needs.

Main idea is to install Interactive City Information points in several cities of different countries and bring them together in a common network which would have benefits for all participating cities.

The first two Information points are already standing in the Municipality of Maribor.
